In 25 words or less, define” a university technician”. A sentence, a poem or a limerick are all acceptable modes of answering.

The outcome

Our utmost description Of a university technician Being multi-skilled, flexible trouble shooters With second-rate crappy computers, So when your grant requires a position Call a university technician	Techs are smart Techs are good Techs can carve things out of wood We may bitch We may drink But we make academics think
There was a drunk student named Max Who picked up a very sharp axe After training from a competent TO We saved his big toe Its Ok academics you can relax	An academic said “ We need a new gizmo I’d reckon’ “I think I’ll give it a go” After a prolonged period of intensive wrecking He decided to talk to a ...laboratory technician
A uni tech is rather spec We keep it clean You treat us mean We pat your back We wipe your brow Pay us well And pay us now	The technicians in the lab Knew they were really fab Do more with less And hang the stress All for the price of a slab Signed TARTS (Teaching And Research Technical Support)
Two variation of the same thing
There was a mid-corner tech from the lab He was known for his work at the slab Who is entering multitasking and diversification Was promised a reclassification Until he woke up and realised he had been had	There was an old tech from the lab Who was known to dissect things on the slab He was promised a career With fun , wine and beer Until one day he realised he had been had
Techos are a clever mob They do a lot with little Set them any kind of job They’ll do it in a diddle
And the winner was
There was a young techo named Piers Who conquered all of his fears He worked with bacteria From the uni cafeteria And was a hero to all of his peers
